May Pepper Vanderbilt Sees This Indi. cated in Present Trend. In answering the question What Do the Present Times Point To, which was one of those given her from the audience at the Spiritual academy on urape=Nuts Sunday evening Mrs. May Pepper Vanderbilt touched upon the recent cleaning up in New York along graft and other lines, which, she said, was an indication of the mighty power of spirit, touching men as never before, and she indicated that the spirit influence of Susan B. Anthony and others like her was to be seen in the increased activity of women in the political world. She predicted that the political world, she under the american eagle should no longer be a one-winged bird, but would soar aloft in the full majesty that would attend such an equal and just sharing of political and social rights of the sexes. She gave messages, vivid and full of conviction, at both her morning and evening services.

IMPROVEMENTS AT FREIGHT HOUSE MI-O-NA ENDS

Mrs. E. T. Gadle has returned to her home in New York city, after spend-ing a few weeks with relatives in town. Track Moved to Edge of Wharf and Addition to be Built Will Largely Increase Shipping Facilities of N. Y., N. H. & Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Chappell, who have been living in Norwich, will re-turn to Saybrook soon to make their Hartford-Tonnage and Number of Shipments Has Shown Constant Gain Here.

Conductor Sidney L. Chappell, of Norwich, has been at Old Saybrook, looking over his property which has been undergoing repairs. Relief from crowded conditions at the freight house of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company is promised by improvements which were begun there on Saturday in moving the track on the east side of the house to provide for an extension of the platform on that side, thus gaining space in the freight house which will be enough, it is expected, to handle the increasing business systematically for some years to come. For some time shippers had been complaining of dilatory handling of freight here, so that Freight Agent C. J. isbister took up the matter with the company, representing to them that the chief fault lay with the lack of room to receive and handle the freight that was coming to this station. His representations were effective in securing the present additions and improvements that are under way.

Saturday a gang of carpenters and trackmen arrived from Worcester to do the work. They are nearly the whole force of the Midiand division comprising about twenty carpenters and fifteen trackmen. On Saturday they shifted the west track at the freight house to the extreme edge of the wharf. This will allow for an enlargement of the platform on that side of the freight house to the extreme edge of the wharf. Mrs. James B. Lamb.

Susan S. Lamb, widow of James B.
Lamb, died at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at her home. No. 123 Thames street, after a serious illness of three weeks with Bright's disease. Her health had been poor for several years. She was born in New London 65 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wood. She was married in New London, and for a short time they resided in New London and later in Albany. They came to Norwich 40 years ago, and for 36 years resided in the house in which Mrs. Lamb passed away on Thames street. Her death follows closely that of her husband, which occurred six years ago. He was by trade a pattern maker, employed by the McCrum-Howell company

Mrs. Lamb was for many years a member of the Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps, No. 16, and took a lively interest in its activities. She was well liked by all with whom she came in contact, and her death is a source of deep sorrow to all who knew her. She leaves one son, Walter H. Elizabeth F, Hickey, widow of Daniel D. Hickey, died at 2.15 Sunday morning at her home, No. 30 Pearl street, following a short illness with grip. She had not, however, been in the best of health for several years. She was well known and highly honored in this city, where she had made her home for many years.

She was born in Stafford May 15, 1830, and was one of eight children of James and Achsah Francis. She was married at Stafford in 1850 to Daniel D. Hickey, and shortly afterwards they removed to Worcester, Mass., where he was employed as a moulder. In 1876 Mr. and Mrs. Hickey came to this city, and for a number of years occupied a farm at East Great Plain, Mr. Hickey engaging in agriculture. He passed away about 20 years ago, and since that time Mrs. Hickey had resided with her sister, on Pearl street. Three children of the deceased have died. She leaves two sisters, Miss Mary A. Francis of this city and Mrs. Amelia H. Dimmock, with whom Mrs. Hickey resided. There are also several nophews and nicoes.

Salvation Army Captain Was Once Bruiser-Converted to Better Life 22 Years Ago.

There was a meeting of unusual interest at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, the speaker being Capt. E. W. Wilbur of the Salvation Army, who spoke on the topic From Prize Ring to Pulpit, telling of his personal life as a bruiser, and of how he became converted and took up the work of the Salvation Army. There was music by Swahn's orchestra and a short song service preceded the address. Rev. F. O. Cunningham presided and offered prayer. Two solos were beautifully rendered by Hugh Kinder, Miss Sybil Christman presiding at the plano. Ambition to Be Champion.

In my early days, sald Captain Wilbur, I had one pride, one ambitton, the former my strength and the latter to become the champion heavyweight bully of the world. As a child in dresses I had a passion for liquor and my parents used to give it to me. My my parents used to give it to me. My grandfather was a heavyweight slugger, my father was an unbeliever, caring neither for heaven nor hell, and his ambition for me was to be a hotel bouncer-manager. At the age of 9 or 10 I came in contact with a Methodist preacher and conceived the desire to become a minister. But where sire to become a minister. But where was my chance? I was never sent to Sunday school and received nothing to Sunday school and received nothing to encourage my desires. When I became 14 I first felt the calling of the prize ring. I dreamed of it at night and thought ever of it by day. I had an uncle who, like my grandfather, was a heavyweight "ugillst, so that my ambition was not to be wondered at. At 16 I had my first bout, bare fisted, in a saloon with another lad of about my own age. After that we would fight in the saloons until both were covered with blood for a drink. There were more and bigger bouts and I took covered with blood for a drink. There were more and bigger bouts and I took to tending bar and dissipation. I will pass along to my last battie, which took place in a stable with a man named Stewart, to settle a personal difference. I was in no condition and weak from dissipation, but would not give in, and the fight lasted for 30 minutes, with little advantage either way. Fighting desperately to save that man from beating me, conviction seized me. The thought came to me that if my life should end there, which was not unlikely considering my condition, what would be the result, the end? It seemed as if the spirit of God came to me then. "If I leave this life now, in this condition, gory with the blood of myself and of my enemy, for what will I have to answer?" was the question which came to me. I promquestion which came to me. I prom-ised God that if He would but save me from defeat I would never fight again Soon after this Stewart was brought home from a bout, dead. Conviction in Shadow of Death,

A year later the light came to me. was on a New Year's eve and I lay A year later the light came to me. It was en a New Year's eve and I lay in bed sick with dissipation, with no ambition and with little life. I feared that pneumonia had got me. The thought came to me as in the prizering. "If I die now where am I going?" I had feared not man, had not turned from the sight of blood, but my heart began to fall me and I shook with fear. I feared not death, but I feared to fall in the arms of Him who had seen every act of my life. How could I face Him with my past life? How could I answer Him? What could I do? From midnight to daylight I fought with myself and at last got down on my knees and prayed to God and begged His mercy to restore me to a new strength with power to live a decent life. I found pardon at that very hour, now 22 years gone.

For 22 years I have not touched a drop of liquor, and I must admit that of all the things I ever tasted nothing seemed so good to me as liquor. "One thing I know, that whereas I was blind, now I see." From prize ring to the pulpit is as far as the east is from the west, as far as the east is from the li, and today I look back over a long course and realize how far from the pulpit I was as I stood in the ring.

Jeined Salvatton Army.

When the conviction came I joined the Salvation Army. I had for a long time admired this band of Christ's workers, trying to save lost souls. I admired their courage, but had lacked the courage myself to take a stand with them. Where my heart was filled with evil it is now filled with duty, compassion, love and pity for the lost. Jesus Christ has put a clean heart in my body. I'm 22 years from the prize ring today and am traveling farther from it along God's way. If you see a man going down, helpless, hopeless, do not judge him. His appetites and surroundings are pulling him down, so reach out a helping hand.

It was announced that the speaker next Sunday would be Rev. C. R. Mc-Joined Salvatton Army. next Sunday would be Rev. C. R. Mc-Naily of New London, whose topic will be The Gospel in a Nutsbell.
